V Mesh

Our V-mesh Security Fencing Kit offers a popular and cost-effective solution for low to medium risk boundary protection. This single wire mesh system features profiled mesh or V mesh. With a distinctive horizontal "V" shape pressed into the panel for enhanced strength and rigidity.

One of the standout features of V-mesh is its attractive appearance and large aperture size. The mesh allows for greater visibility, blending the fence line into its surroundings while providing a less intimidating presence compared to other mesh types. However, this aesthetic appeal doesn't compromise on the value for money, strength, durability, and versatility of the system.

Twin Wire Mesh

Experience the ultimate in security with our Twin Wire Security Fencing Kit. Available in either 656 or 868 Twin Wire Specifications. Designed for medium to high-risk areas, this heavy-duty mesh system is built to withstand even the toughest conditions.

The unique construction of the twin wire mesh system delivers unparalleled toughness, rigidity, and resistance against attacks. With a mesh aperture of 200mm x 50mm, this system offers excellent visibility while ensuring maximum security.

The versatility of the twin wire mesh system makes it ideal for a wide range of applications. From securing educational institutions like schools and universities to commercial properties, storage facilities, and heavy-duty security perimeters, this robust system offers reliable protection.
